APPENDIX.

TEMPERANCE (A.)—Your committee on Temperance offer the following report: We are commended to be temperate in all things; we can be intemperate in the use of our tongues, such as evil speaking; talking to the injury of our brother, defaming his fair name. We can be intemperate in eating, making a god of our bellies. But the main point of this report is the evil of dram drinking.

Brethren, this is the crying sin of our age, and it behooves us, as the body of our Lord Jesus Christ, to set our faces like flint against this crying evil—even if we have to cut off our right hand, or pluck out our right eye. Let us insist that our churches shall be purified of this sin. Let the churches say to the dram drinker and whiskey maker, that we will not fellowship the works of darkness; and withdraw our fellowship from every brother that walks disorderly in this respect.

Respectfully submitted,

V. H. DEAN, Chm'n.

STATE OF RELIGION (B.)—Your committee beg leave to report that the State of Religion, within the bounds of our Association, is better than last year. There have been gracious revivals in many of the churches. The cause of our Lord and Master has been built up, and the name of God greatly glorified.

Brethren, let us be more consecrated to His service, pray more earnestly for the prosperity of Zion—ever abounding in the work of the Lord, in-as-much as we know that our labor shall not be vain in the Lord.

Respectfully submitted,

W. H. LYONS, Chm'n.

SABBATH SCHOOLS (C.)—Your committee beg leave to report that but two churches report Sabbath Schools. Brethren, this ought not to be. Every church in this Association ought to have a flourishing Bible School, where old and young, meet every Lord's day to read and study the good Book, then our noble young men and women would become giants in the knowledge of the Lord—bright shining lights in the kingdom of our God. Impressed with the importance of the Sabbath School work, your committee most earnestly urge this body to take some steps, by which this subject may be put before the churches in its true light; then, and not till then, will they act.

Respectfully submitted,

J. M. THOMAS, Chm'n.

MISSIONS (D.)—The committee on Missions beg leave to report: That from the reading of the letters, sent to this body from the churches, it is plain that but little is doing in our midst to spread abroad the gospel of our salvation. Your committee beg to report, that the work of preaching the gospel is of Divine appointment. See the gospel by Matthew, 28th Chap., and Mark, Chap. 16th. The Lord of life and glory gave the high commission himself, just after his resurrection, and before his ascension to the throne of his glory, to take the reins of universal empire, and therefore its announcement came to us with the authority of the God-head. Consequently, it is binding on the church, which he purchased with his own blood, and on every individual member of that church, till the end of time.

Preaching the gospel implies much more than the mere delivering of a sermon on the Lord's day by some person claiming authority from some ecclesiastical body to preach.

"Christ Jesus," the great teacher, went about doing good. He taught in the "Temple," in the "Jewish Synagogue," by the sea side, by the way side, in the houses of the poor, in the midst of the throngs that pressed to hear him, at the well of Samaria, to the poor debased woman, by day and by night—he was the same great teacher—he did not wait for monthly occasions to preach and teach, not wait till he found a Synagogue to preach in. No, no. Every day offered an opportunity, every spot was a fit place to declare his gospel to the perishing race of mankind. What "love through all his actions ran, what mighty words of grace he spake;" so now he who goes forth to teach, bearing precious seed to sow, must be diligent, like his Master, to teach, to sow every day, everywhere, sow weeping, sow in prayers, sow in faith, sow by divine authority, sow in the morning, sow in the evening, sow in the name of the Triune God, invoking the aid of God, the eternal spirit, for Christ's sake to bless the teaching and the sowing. The preacher and the sower must be "apt to teach."

Big sermons are not required; simple, plain teaching is. Christ taught in plain, simple language, so did his apostles.

Important occasions, like our State Conventions and Associations, may, for good reasons, now and then, demand sermons to be more elaborate, but in the main, everywhere and on all occasions, "Christ and Him crucified," is the noblest, the fittest theme. If these things are true your committee are constrained, most earnestly, to recommend to the churches, within our bounds, to hold religious services, at their respective places of worship, on every Lord's day, suitable to old and young, such as the study of the Scriptures, reading, prayer and meditation. If it is so that the minister of the gospel can only be present once a month, when he is present let the exercises of God's house be simple, earnest, fervent, prayerful, full of the spirit of the Master. Your committee are so fully impressed with the truth of what is herein stated, that we most earnestly urge on the body now in session to appoint a Sunday School Evangelist, and Missionary, to labor in the bounds of our body the ensuing year, whose duty it shall be to aid in establishing Bible Schools in every church, to visit weak and feeble churches, and aid them to open their houses of worship every Lord's day for religious instruction and worship; thus coming up to the measure of duty in this great work.

There is much land yet to be possessed for the Lord, brethren, friends of Jesus, let us go up and possess it, for we are able.

We further recommend that the body now in session proceed to ascertain what can be secured in the way of the necessities of life, and money to support such an Evangelist in our bounds the ensuing year. Let our motto be, a Baptist church in every neighborhood, meeting every Lord's day for the worship of God.

Respectfully submitted,

H. W. WATSON, Chm'n.

DOCUMENTS (E.)—Your committee beg leave to report: Macedonia and White Plains churches each asks for the next session of the Association. Friendship church asks this body to re-district the Association, so as to have two, instead of three, districts.

Respectfully submitted,

E. K. HEAD, Chm'n.

MISSIONARY'S REPORT (F.)—I most respectfully report, that during the Associational year, just closed, to the best of my ability under God's help, I have labored in preaching the gospel to the destitute, and trust that much good has been done, to the glory of God, the father.

During the year I have received from brethren and friends the sum of one hundred and twenty-four dollars and seventy-five cents, for which I return my heartfelt thanks.

Respectfully submitted, JAMES FIELDS, Chm'n.
